SWEEPING VICTORY FOR ROOSEVELT.

Taft Takes Only Ten Remaining District Delegates.

Governor Harmon Choice of Democrats for Presidential Nomination.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, May 22.—Nearly complete returns from yesterday's Ohio Presidential preference primaries in hand at noon today, indicate that Colonel Roosevelt won 32 of 42 delegates to the Republican convention selected in 21 Congressional districts, and that President Taft was given 10 district delegates.

On the Democratic ticket Governor Harmon is believed to have won by a larger percentage than Colonel Roosevelt, being credited with 36 district delegates as against seven for Governor Woodrow Wilson of New Jersey. Although President Taft secured but 10 delegates, the Taft-Roosevelt fight in Ohio is not finished, but will be carried into the state Republican convention, which June 3 will select six delegates at large to the national convention.

Of a total of less than 1,000 delegates to the state convention a large portion of whom also were named yesterday, nearly complete returns indicate that President Taft has nearly a sufficient number to control. This may give the Taft managers the six delegates at large to be named by the state convention and probably will make the President's total 16.

Governor Harmon will not be forced to make a further fight for delegates at large, as the Democratic call specified that the winner of the Presidential preference primary shall name his own delegates at large. It will be impossible before night to get an accurate list of totals in the various districts on the Democratic preference, but it is clear that Harmon has won over Wilson by a large plurality.

The additional Congressmen to which Ohio is entitled, as a result of the last districting, will be selected at large and will be named by each party at their state conventions in June.

Walter F. Brown, chairman of the state central committee, this afternoon issued the following statement:

"Out of the 42 national delegates apportioned to Ohio's 21 Congressional districts Colonel Roosevelt has elected 30 beyond any question and probably has elected 32, in the state the Roosevelt delegates have a popular majority of from 25,000 to 36,000. This result makes Mr. Taft's nomination impossible. Just as certainly it makes impossible the nomination of any of the men who have been identified with the President in the contest."

"I am pleased with the result so far," said Governor Harmon today, when he returned to the executive office from his home in Cincinnati "but I want to know more about it before I make a statement."

The 32 delegates elected to vote for Roosevelt are from the following districts: Fourth, Fifth, Sixth, Eighth, Ninth, Tenth, Eleventh, Twelfth, Fourteenth, Sixteenth, Seventeenth, Eighteenth, Nineteenth, Twentieth and Twenty First. He will also have one delegate from the Third and Fifteenth. Complete returns from 69 of the 88 counties of the state show that Roosevelt carried 45 of them and Taft 14. Of the 59, Governor Harmon carried the same number as Colonel Roosevelt, and in the 14 counties carried by Wilson, Taft on the Republican ticket failed to receive one of them.

The rural vote throughout the state was light as the farmers whose work had been retarded by the weather, preferred to put in their crops to going to the polls.

Senator La Follette received a larger vote than the politicians had predicted, but it was nearly all in the northern part of the state, where the followers of the Wisconsin Senator refused to desert his cause to go with Mr. Roosevelt in his campaign for a third term. La Follette secured the heaviest vote in the Twenty-First Congressional district, where he polled 4,163 votes. In Fulton county La Follette secured more votes than President Taft. Of the 14 counties which have so far reported as carried by President Taft one half are Democratic strongholds, where the Republican vote was very light.

The exact vote in the Democratic preferential contest is not known, but reports from 735 precincts out of 5,192 in the state indicate that Harmon has received 17,309 votes to Wilson's, 10,772 in those precincts, while Clark received 170 and Bryan 155.

Adams county, where more than 1,500 voters were disfranchised a year ago for selling their votes, gave Colonel Roosevelt a majority of nearly 200.

President Taft carried his home district, the First and the Second, Governor Harmon, who lives in the same city, with the President, Cincinnati, carried the Second district, but the First is still in doubt. The returns in show that Governor Wilson carried the Third, Twentieth and Twenty-First districts in the Third district, C. W. Folkerth was

CUBAN SITUATION MORE SERIOUS.

Over 5,000 Negroes Take Up Arms in Oriente, Alone.

Two American Citizens Assaulted on Their Way to Siboney.

SANTIAGO, Cuba, May 22.—The situation in Cuba is rapidly growing more serious. It is now estimated that over 5,000 negroes have taken up arms in the province of Oriente, alone.

Parties of armed blacks, headed by Generals Estenoz and Ivonet, are reported operating in the vicinity of El Caney, El Cobre and San Luis, and also at various points close to this city. The band led by Ivonet passed through the Firmeza property of the Juragua Iron Company, seizing a large number of horses and a quantity of explosives. At Sevilla and Ocana the insurgents attacked and looted stores owned by Spaniards, who have protested to the Spanish consul at Guantanamo. An encounter is reported between insurgents and the rurale guard at Yerbagulnea, the guard having two men killed and several wounded.

Two American citizens, Floyd Schick and Joseph Bryan, have complained to Ross E. Holaday, United States consul at Santiago, of being assaulted and robbed, while they were on their way to Siboney, by a band of armed negros.

The strike of the longshoremen has taken on a serious aspect. It is impossible to load steamers, as the authorities are not able to give protection to strike-breakers.

INFANTRY FOR ORIENTE.

Havana Companies to Aid Government Troops in the Province.

HAVANA, May 22.—Two companies of infantry and two batteries of artillery entrained here this morning for the province of Oriente. They will assist the government troops already in that district, who number more than 1,200 men, in the movement to surround the negro insurgents, under General Evaristo Estenoz and General Ivonet, who are operating at El Caney, El Cobre and San Luis, in the vicinity of Santiago. The government has received no further advices from the disturbed districts since last evening.

NO RESULT ON LATE BALLOTS.

Dr. Henderson and Dr. Shepard Chosen Bishops on the Eleventh.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., May 22.—The twelfth ballot for bishops of the Methodist Episcopal Church today resulted in no election. Dr. N. Luccock of Kansas City, Mo., was first, with 392; R. J. Cooke, New York, second, with 337, and E. D. Leete, Detroit, Mich., third, with 335; necessary to elect, 602.

The thirteenth ballot also resulted in no election.

Dr. T. S. Henderson of New York and Dr. W. O. Shepard of Chicago were elected bishops on the eleventh ballot last night. Dr. Henderson received 562 votes and Dr. Shepard, 532; necessary to elect, 524.

When the result of the tenth ballot, when Dr. Henderson was the high man for a place on the board of bishops, was announced it seemed as if the Conference were in a serious deadlock. Just prior to the taking of the eleventh ballot, Mr. Hanley, one time governor of Indiana, announced the withdrawal from the race of Dr. J. Stansfield of Indianapolis, who received 101 votes on the tenth ballot.

The evening session was given over to the report of the board of conference claimants, which showed the board to be out of debt, to have made a small beginning of its permanent fund and to have sent back $95,000 to the conferences for needy cases.

Practically all the day session was taken up by a discussion of the reports of committees. The conference agreed to one change in the church rules, whereby the presidents of one woman's home and one woman's foreign missionary society were permitted voices in the district conference.

DISPOSITION OF BODY UNKNOWN.

Funeral of Clarence Richeson Held in Warren Avenue Baptist Church.

BOSTON, May 22.—The funeral of Clarence V. T. Richeson, who suffered death at the state prison yesterday morning for the murder of Miss Avis Linnell, took place this afternoon in the vestry of the Warren Avenue Baptist Church. Rev. Herbert S. Johnson, who was one of Richeson's spiritual advisers up to the moment of the electrocution and who is pastor of the church, conducted the services. Less than a score of people were in attendance. Before beginning the service, Mr. Johnson refused to state what disposition would be made of the body.

The shed is dry and clean and will be made weatherproof wherever necessary. Anyone interested in renting any of the above, apply to the Newport Coal Co.

MINERS WORKING UNDER NEW RULE.

Normal Conditions in Pits May Soon be Established.

Hazelton Region Strippers Strike for an Increase in Wages.

PHILADELPHIA, May 22.—After being idle for 44 working days, the 170,000 mine workers throughout the anthracite coal fields of Pennsylvania resumed work today under the new wage agreement. Some collieries are not in condition to be placed in operation, but it is expected in a week or two mining will have reached its normal condition. While misunderstandings are looked for under the new agreement, no serious affairs are feared.

In the Hazleton region men are engaged on stripping work, where coal lying near the surface is taken out in the same manner as stone is quarried, struck today for a 10 per cent increase in wages, the same as has been granted to the miners.

REBEL LOSSES HEAVY.

Federal Column Under Blanquet Defeats Band Near Aviles.

TORREON, Mexico, May 22.—A federal column under General Blanquet, with artillery, defeated a band of rebels near Aviles, in the state of Durango, 10 miles east of Torreon in a three-hour battle yesterday. Rebel losses are said to be heavy, while the federals report none killed.

TO BAR MEXICAN TROOPS.

Federals Plan to Cut Off Retreat to the West or the South.

FABENS, Mexico, May 22.—To prevent contending Mexicans troops from using American territory in their prospective battle around Guadalupe, Mexico, Colonel E. Z. Steever of the United States cavalry today ordered two troops of cavalry to follow along the boundary line several miles to the east, parallel to any fighting that may occur. The evacuation of Guadalupe by the federals was a ruse. The withdrawal of a federal column under Major Sanchez, southward toward the hills, allowed the rebels to enter the town, and the insurrectos will find themselves hemmed in on the east by 200 men under Colonel Jose de la Cruz Sanchez, who came up early today from Obiangs and is expected to attack first. The plan has been to have the federals, who went a few miles south, move in between Guadalupe and Juarez, cutting off retreat to the west or the south, while the American boundary line cuts off any northward march.

PROVE LOYALTY TO OROSZCO.

Fourteen Citizens of Chihuahua in His Army as Common Soldiers.

GENERAL OROSZCO'S HEADQUARTERS, JIMINEZ, Mexico, May 22.—With death as their threatened punishment for complicity in a plot against revolutionary authorities, 14 men, including two supreme court judges, and all prominent in the city of Chihuahua, are today proving their loyalty to Oroszco and his cause by carrying rifles in his army as common soldiers, under permission from the general.

Since their arrest in Chihuahua and their arrival here under guard, they have denied their guilt, and insisted that they, too, at heart are revolutionists. They were informed of the evidence tending to show that they had hatched and all but carried out a plot to kidnap the secretary general of the revolution, the governor of the state and the chief of arms in Chihuahua, and to attempt to hold the city of Chihuahua for the federal government while Oroszco was absent on his expedition against the federals under General Huerta.

In addition to this they were charged with being responsible for the recent bridge burning along the line of the Mexican Central. Their protestations of innocence of the charges of loyalty to Oroszco were heard coldly, and they begged for an opportunity to prove it by fighting in the army. They would have been executed had they not been granted permission to enlist in the army. They were sent from here yesterday on a special train to the front. At Reliano, General Salazar will apportion among the various commanders the volunteers.

ORDER OF WAR DEPARTMENT.

Forces in Juarez Not to Fire Into American Territory.

WASHINGTON, May 22.—Colonel E. Z. Steever, commanding the Department of Texas, was today instructed by the War Department to inform the commander of the military forces in Juarez that he must not permit any firing whatever into American territory.

Official Figures for Massachusetts in Presidential Primaries.

BOSTON, May 22.—President Taft's plurality over Colonel Roosevelt in the recent Massachusetts Presidential preference primaries was 3,623, according to an official announcement made at the state house today. The returns from each city and town in the state have been canvassed by the executive council and the vote for Presidential candidates follows:

Republican—Taft 86,722, Roosevelt 83,099, La Follette 2,658; scattering 99.

Reichstag Passes Third Reading of German Army and Navy Bill.

BERLIN, May 21.—The Reichstag imposed a condition that the government shall re-introduce the inheritance tax bill, the rejection of which overthrew Chancellor von Buelow and which was one of the principal issues at the last general elections, in passing today the third reading of the bills increasing the German army and navy. The contention that part, at least, of the cost of the increases in the army and navy should be borne by new taxation imposed on the wealthier classes has thus prevailed.

The Reichstag adopted the two laws, first, on the condition that it would grant the necessary funds for some form of general property tax and its enactment before October 1, 1916, and, second, that the inheritance tax bill shall be revived.

The secretary of the treasury announced that the government accepted the first condition, which was interpreted as demanding some form of taxation of wealth or inheritance, and would introduce a measure to that effect, but it was unwilling to bind itself to the inheritance tax contemplated in the second condition.

The Reichstag, nevertheless, adopted the second condition by a vote of 184 against 169. The majority comprised Social-Democrats, Radicals, National-Liberals and Anti-Semites.

WILL NOT SEEK RE-ELECTION.

Massachusetts Senator Crane Decides to Retire from Public Life.

WASHINGTON. May 21.—Senator W. Murray Crane of Massachusetts, a Taft leader, announced this afternoon that he would not again seek re-election to the Senate. The announcement created a decided sensation among Mr. Crane's colleagues and members of the state delegation in the House. Though Senator Crane has discussed for several weeks the probability of his taking this step, it was not thought he seriously meditated retiring from public life.

Representative John W. Weeks practically has announced that he will be a candidate for the Senate, and Representative Augustus Gardner has let it be known that he intends to offer if Curtis Guild does not. Mr. Guild is the new American ambassador to St. Petersburg, and is at present on the ocean.

Well-informed politicians in the Massachusetts delegation say there was no doubt Mr. Crane could have won the Republican nomination for Senator had he made the contest. They explain his recent defeat in the state, when he was placed on the ticket of Taft delegates, by saying that 12,000 regular Republican ballots were spoiled by the voters leaving nine names on the ticket when only eight were to be voted for. The addition of the name of Frank Seibeltict made nine names, and 13,000 stalwarts voted for all nine. These ballots were thrown out.

Senator Crane has been active in the management of President Taft's campaign, and, though he has worked noiselessly and without being publicly known, he has been recognized as the real power behind the throne.

PORTSMOUTH.

Woman's Christian Temperance Union Parlor Meeting—Death of Frederick Arnold in Ohio.

[Regular correspondence of The News]

Mrs. Eunice A. Greene, president, entertained the Women's Christian Temperance Union at her home on the East Main road Tuesday evening, at a parlor meeting. The parlors and hall, extending across the front of the house were filled with guests, the company numbering about 60. Miss Etta M. Sherman, superintendent of the department of peace, had the meeting in charge and presented a program which opened with the singing of "All Hail the Power of Jesus' Name" and the reciting of the "Shepherd's Prayer" in unison, followed by an instrumental duet, "The Beetle's Dance," by Misses Marjorie Hicks and Edna Malone; reading "The Glory of War;" violin solo, nocturne, "By Lantern Light," by Mr. Ray Ayler, Mrs. Greene accompanist; quotations on "Peace" by a number of the company; vocal solo, "Do the Duty Nearest," by Mrs. William H. Chace, Jr.; "The Dawn of the World's Peace," an original paper by Miss Etta M. Sherman; a trio—Mr. Ray Ayler, violin, Mr. Oscar Levins, cornet, and Mrs Greene, piano; an address by Rev. John Wadsworth, who gave a report of the work in the interest of peace at the General Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church; reading by Mrs. Greene, "Liberty," a poem written by the late John Hayes; singing of an anthem "It is a good thing to give thanks unto the Lord," by the chorus choir of the Friends' Church; piano solo, "The Star-Spangled Banner," by Miss Marjorie Hicks; a brief address by Rev. Albert Loucks of the Christian Church, who, with Mrs. Loucks, met with the Women's Christian Temperance Union for the first time, and a brief speech by Rev. James M. Estes of the Friends' Church.

At the close of the exercises cake and lemonade were served, and after a short social time "Blest be the tie that binds" was sung and the company separated, after one of the most enjoyable times in its history.

News has been received by numerous relatives here, including a niece, Mrs. William B. Clarke and a nephew, Joseph H. Cross, of the death of Mr. Frederick Arnold at his home in Dayton, Ohio, aged 73 years. He married, many years ago, Caroline, daughter of the late John Child, whose home was on the Seaconnet shore now called "Morning Side" and owned by Mrs. William H. Sanford. Child's street was named after him. Mr. Arnold leaves a widow and two children—a son, Frederick Arnold, and a daughter, Carrie, wife of Dr. Wynne. He had been an engineer on a Western railroad for over 60 years, and went to live in Dayton in 1883, making it his home.

Rehearsals for "The Keeping of a Promise," are being held each evening by the 22 girls from St. Anthony's who are in the play.

Mrs. E. Stoelinger, who has been ill for four months with nervous prostration, has improved sufficiently to go out.

A considerable number of Portsmouth people attended the funeral of Mr. Charles McCoy in Tiverton Monday afternoon.

Friends of Judge Lee in Portsmouth share in the general sorrow at his death.

Mrs. Mary Pease and daughter Hattie, who have been spending a few days with relatives in town, have returned to their home in Boston.

Mrs. George A. Wyatt was guest of Mrs. Thomas Sullivan of Newport Tuesday.

Rev. H. W. Lawrence of St. Mary's Church, although suffering from a severe cold, conducted the services Sunday.

WORK THAT TELLS.

Plenty of it Has Been Done Right Here in Newport.

Cures that last are cures that tell. To thoroughly know the virtues of a medicine you must investigate the cures and see if they prove permanent. Doan's Kidney Pills stand this test, and plenty of proof exists right here in Newport. People who testified years ago to relief from backache, kidney and urinary disorders, now declare that relief was permanent and the cure perfect. How can any Newport sufferer longer doubt the evidence?

Mrs. S. E. Freeman, 52 Van Zandt Ave., Newport, R. I., says: "I still consider Doan's Kidney Pills a fine remedy and am glad to confirm the public testimonial I gave in 1905 in their praise. A relative was troubled a great deal by backache and there were other symptoms which left no doubt that his kidneys were disordered. He did not rest well and was stiff and lame upon arising in the morning. Learning of Doan's Kidney Pills, a supply was procured at Wright & Hay's Drug Store and they gave satisfactory results."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

SIX GRANGES REPRESENTED.

Past Master McCoy's Death Casts Gloom in Pomona Meeting.

Browntail and Tussock Moths Among Questions Discussed Demanding Attention.

The May meeting of Newport County Pomona Grange, No. 4, Patrons of Husbandry, was held Tuesday at Fair Hall, Middletown, with the six Granges of the county represented. The worthy master, Mrs. Helen A. Wilcox of Tiverton, and Worthy Secretary Miss Clover L. Hambly, also of Tiverton, were appointed a committee to draw up resolutions on the recent death of Past Master Charles McCoy of Nanaquaket Grange, Stone Bridge, who was a member of Pomona. Mr. McCoy was the first master of this new Grange, which has been organized only about a year and a half. His death Friday last, by being swept from the rocks at Seaconnet while fishing, cast a gloom over Tuesday's meeting, for Mr. McCoy had been a great favorite.

Notice was given of the corn-growing contests, and of a demonstration at Kingston College May 27-28 in regard to the use of a new explosive for the removal of tree stumps, lightening of the soil, etc.

Worthy Master Mrs. Wilcox read a letter from Senator Wetmore, acknowledging the petition sent him by this Grange favoring an enactment of a farce's pest law and opposing, any change in the present oleomargarine law. The communication will be referred to the committee on postoffices and post roads.

Representatives from the six Granges reported the orders in a flourishing condition. Connanicut Grange, Jamestown, has taken in 23 members this winter and is having well-attended meetings. Little Compton Grange recently observed Children's Night with an attendance of 250; Jamestown and Portsmouth are to observe Children's Night in June, and Aquidneck Grange, Middletown, in July.

A recess was called at 12:30, and the members adjourned to the dining hall for a basket lunch, the worthy master and Mrs. Warren R. Sherman of Portsmouth Grange serving coffee.

At 1:30 the meeting was resumed and the afternoon's program placed in the hands of the worthy lecturer Mrs. William M. Hughes. The topic "What Public Questions Should Demand the Special Attention of Our Grange?" was taken up by J. Lincoln Sherman, who, with Henry C. Sherman, was to present the subject. Mr. Henry Sherman was not able to be present.

It was recommended that more interest should be shown in the selection of state officers who were reliable, and tried to look after the interests of the communities which sent them. While farmers as a class are not considered fit to be sent to the legislature, there are among them many educated men, whose influence would count if used for their own town's advancement instead of to further their own political ends.

Great care should be spent in selecting town officers and members of the General Assembly. Why is the farmer generally "last on the list?" Evidently because those who were sent to represent him cared little for his interests. The fact that the Rhode Island farmers' bills came up last this year in the General Assembly greatly crippled the work of the extermination of the browntail and gypsy moth, by allowing only three days' work before the worms crawled out of the nests. As it was, 2,093 browntail nests, each containing about 200 caterpillars, were destroyed.

It was understood that Newport county was the only district which tried to do anything, the appropriation came so late. Five big nests were taken in Newport. Only two cases of gypsy moth on the Island were discovered—one at "Lone Elm Place," William M. Hughes, and a pupa at Charles Corey's, both in Portsmouth. The browntail moth has an intense liking for pear trees and sheltered places, and will do great damage if allowed to start. Nothing was done in this line last year, as the appropriation was vetoed. While the browntail moth lays only in trees, the gypsy moth lays eggs everywhere. Where spraying has been done largely there is a dearth of caterpillars; this applies largely to parts of Tiverton.

A number of the women recommended that each individual take up a personal extermination of the tent caterpillar, which so infests the wild cherry trees on the Island; others advised a clearing out of these trees along the highways. The two kinds of tent caterpillars were described by Mr. Sherman as "the ordinary" and the "fall-web caterpillar," and both need to be looked after in their season.

The tussock moth spreads incredibly fast. They appeared some eight years ago, and three years ago Newport was alive with them. Seven insects are known to feed on them. In Massachusetts, as an experiment, they are feeding a number of browntail moths on a fast which makes them ill with a species of cholera. Sick ones are to be distributed over the country, with the expectation that they will inoculate the healthy ones and so aid in the extermination. This species is extremely poisonous, and many persons have been from inhaling the fine hairs which fly from them. Men engaged in their extermination wear rubber gloves and are protected by a shield of glass and wood. The dust from the moths has poisoned and made many ill. They form in the ends of twigs, spinning over two or three leaves and making a tough-silky-textured nest.

It was stated by one member that after the caterpillars have become old enough to leave their nests they are to be found in these nests only at noon, while it is hottest, and this is the time to kill them. Some of the members felt that the farmers who owned the land on which the caterpillars were found should be held responsible for their extermination and thus their ravages be kept down. It was recommended that if the sides of the highways were well cared for there would be less opportunity for their growth, and a more sightly condition of the roads would be appreciated by every one.

Worthy Overseer George H. Simmons of Little Compton put in a plea for the neglected orchards. He recommended that an effort be made to redeem them, or else cut them down and begin again. Very few orchards are paying profitably, because of lack of care and attention.

Mr. Sherman spoke of abandoned farms, and was glad that Kingston College is taking the matter in hand by preparing lists and endeavoring to get people on the farms.

Woman suffrage was recommended as a good subject to be brought up in the Grange, and the parcels post was again advocated. The elm-tree beetle was mentioned and Mrs. Wilcox said she had been successfully combated on her home farm, Stone Bridge by a careful application of kerosene—all the trees entirely around the trunk at least.

Worthy Chaplain Mrs. Elisha Clarke Peckham spoke of the many faxities in enforcing the laws, and said it looked as if woman might have to vote, since they could have "no finger in affairs and yet always had to take the consequences." She considered the Grange had been of inestimable benefit, in that it had "agitated thought," which is the beginning of wisdom," and had developed the individual by drawing out capabilities which people did not realize they had possessed until called forth through some office or requirement in the Grange. As a social centre in farming communities its influence had been largely felt in drawing together sections which otherwise would seldom, if ever, meet. Mrs. Peckham read an excellent article on the "Care to Be Exercised in Giving Advice."

A party of eight members of Jamestown Grange were present at the afternoon session, and remarks were made by Worthy Lecturer Mrs. Fred Armbrust and others, and Mrs. Amos Peckham assisted in the music. Remarks were made by Warren R. and Walter Sherman and T. Frank Carr of Portsmouth, and by Miss Eliza M. Peckham of Middletown, and Mrs. Hughes, and Mrs. Charles H. Potter of Providence, formerly of Tiverton. Among the songs were "Beautiful Grange That We Love" and "The Farmer Feeds Them All." Mrs. Warren R. Sherman acted as pianist.

CONDEMNS SPEED MANIA.

Worcester Judge Thinks a Spirit of Recklessness Is Threatening American People.

In sentencing John D. Curwen of the Warren garage to six months in the house of correction for reckless driving of an automobile recently when Leander F. Spinney of Dorchester was killed while riding as a guest of Curwen in a machine that ran into a telegraph pole in Leicester, Judge Samuel Utley of the Worcester central court had this to say of the speed mania:

"This is not a question of a man driving in the middle of the highway. These parties started from the Warren hotel after consuming more or less drink. It is not a case where either business or pleasure influenced the speed. It is merely a condition where their actions got the better of their judgment.

"I do not think the statutes should be so construed that a citizen has no rights in the road. Had there been anybody in the road, I naturally suppose he would have turned up before this. We have had a horrible example of what the speed mania will do in the recent sea tragedy, and while I have nothing to do with maritime matters, we have the same thing to fear on land today. People cannot go at a decent rate of speed, and when once under the influence of the speed mania they lose all sense of what they are doing.

"You cannot go a quarter of a mile in the streets of Worcester today with an automobile but what you will see people start right out in front of you in the middle of the road. I go about the streets and find a considerable number of people who take no care of their own lives, whether in wagon or on foot. I think the spirit of recklessness is fast taking possession of the American people. This is seen plainly in the Worcester streets and as far as the country roads.

"That any one gets out alive is due to providence. I think we should have a very different set of laws. The people must also be educated as to protecting themselves and others. We have spent many thousands of dollars eliminating the grade crossings in the city of Worcester, and today Main street is a worse menace to life than any grade crossing we ever had, as the crossings had gates and flags, but people step from sidewalks before moving vehicles without any warning. I don't know if talk has any effect on the matter, but my duty in this case is clear."

VERY NEAR HEAVEN.

[Life.]

Mr. J. Pierpont Morgan has planned a magnificent apartment on the thirty-first floor of the Bankers' Trust Company Building, New York. It is as high up in the air and as elaborate and luxurious in its equipment as Mr. Morgan could possibly devise. It may not be quite heaven, but it is about as near to it as money can buy.

TWO CURED OF SKIN TROUBLE
"I have suffered from birth with skin trouble, and doctored with four of the best doctors that could be found. I used several patent remedies. After using them a long time I was so bad that it took the hair off my head, and even my eyebrows too, and made my eyes so bad that I was kept in a dark room for several weeks. I was out of my head for a long time. A friend told me to get some of the Cuticura Remedies, and she knew they would cure me, so I got some packages of Cuticura Ointment and Resolvent and used them and was cured. This was about two years ago, and I have never had a touch of it since.
"Also my husband had had salt rheum for twenty-three years, and after I had such a wonderful cure, he sent for some Cuticura Soap, Cuticura Ointment and Resolvent, and used them himself and he was cured. His flesh was covered with stuff like fish scales, and he even had it in his hair so bad he had to keep his hair cut close. It never grew down on his face, but we are now both happy over our cures through the use of the Cuticura treatment." (Signed) Mrs. Laurence Butler, Chesterfield, N. H., Jan. 10, 1911.
Cuticura Soap and Ointment sold throughout the world. Send to "Cuticura," Dept. KK, Boston, for a liberal sample of each, post-free, with 32-p. book on the care and treatment of the skin and scalp.

THE NEWS IN PROVIDENCE.

The Daily News is on sale in Providence the evening of publication at Union Station.

NEWPORT TO BE A CLEAN CITY.

The Daily News has already commended the action of Mayor Boyle in ordering the police to enforce the law against the throwing of waste paper and other litter on the street. The News has tried for years to create a sentiment in the community which should lead to cleaner streets, and the sentiment has in large measure been created—that is, people say: "Oh, how untidy the streets look!" but few, it is feared, do more than hold up their hands with the exclamation. What is needed is work which will rid the streets of the untidiness and redeem the good name of the city for cleanliness. It will probably require but little attention by the police after a short time, when the people will learn that the authorities are in earnest.

Even a strict enforcement of the law will not be all that is needed to secure the best results. Dealers on the business streets and people in the residence districts are often indifferent to waste and litter about their premises if they know that it was not placed there by themselves or by their employes. This is not enough. If the waste is there, if "the goods are found on them," and they can do anything for its removal it is their duty as citizens and good neighbors to have the stuff removed. In this way the hands of the authorities can be upheld and Newport will at last become a clean city and her beauty be seen.

UNRESTRAINED SOCIETY.

It is really astonishing to what lengths some people, young or old, in what is called "society" will go when unrestrained by conventions. The papers are telling of some recent performances in the city of Philadelphia, where young people of both sexes conducted themselves in a way that should bring not only the blush to their own cheeks, but mortification to all who were in any way socially connected with them. The story goes that 20 young daughters and sons of some of the most prominent families, dressed in tights and skirts which extended but little below their waist lines, played "leap frog" in the ballroom of a fashionable hotel, immediately following the presentation of an amateur performance of a Bohemian comedy, for the benefit of a local hospital. When the patronesses, the parents of most of the frolickers and many other prominent society women, had left the ballroom where the performance was given, the young people placed guards to warn them of the return of the patronesses, and then they indulged in their game of "leap frog." After they had leaped over one another's backs for ten minutes they danced the "bunny-hug," "grizzly-bear" and other dances long since frowned upon. They were in the midst of their frolic when the patronesses returned.

If the story here printed were the only one where the proprieties and decencies of life were violated, it might be ignored, as showing perhaps local conditions only, but if one may believe the stories which came the past winter from Tuxedo, where the "best" people coasted with men and women piled indiscriminately on sleds, to say nothing of some scenes nearer home, where people at society dances have acted as if there were no moral standards, it may well be considered that it is time that public opinion should put a stop to such practices in the interest of the future of the country; if not, the Twentieth century may soon not show so great a moral advancement on the years of the Roman empire as we have been taught to believe.

TO UNITE CAPITAL AND LABOR.

A hopeful and helpful co-operative movement has been started in Grand Rapids as a result of a strike some months ago among furniture workers of that city. This movement has taken the form of two separate organizations, one composed of employers and the other of employes, each independent of the other and yet each associated with the other in such a way as to make the relations much closer and more intimate than they have ever been before. The employes contribute to their organization a fixed sum each week, and the employers pay an equal sum to their body. The employers have an association of their own, which they conduct independently, but in the interests of harmony between themselves and those whom they employ. Under such conditions it would seem that there cannot possibly be anything but the most pleasant and amicable relations between the members of the two organizations, and that strikes such as that which disturbed the industry and stirred the city so recently could not be repeated. If that result is achieved it will be one of the most hopeful developments in the industrial world for many a day.

Another interesting feature in connection with this movement is the possible effect it will have on unionism. The terms of the association of the employes are such that they pay into their organization a sum each week which, while not burdensome, is large enough so that with the number of men employed in the industry a much greater amount of money will be available each week than is raised within the same length of time by any labor union. The result of this will be that with so much money at their disposal for the relief of the suffering and distress which may occur among the members these workers will be in a very large sense independent of the unions and have no real use for them, having secured in their own way and by their own efforts better conditions than they can gain through the unions. It will be interesting to watch the development of this feature of the new plan for the co-operation of employers and employes.

The plan has been adopted with enthusiasm by both the manufacturers and the workers, and there seems to be no reason why it should not continue to work as well as at the start. The principle is well founded, the co-operation is equitable and the prospect for a successful accomplishment of the object of the movement is bright. It is a movement which has long been needed between capital and labor, and it will be well worth the while of both these parties to industrial activities to watch it closely to see how it works. The fact that capital and labor ought not to be antagonistic, though they too often are arrayed against each other, is recognized in this movement, and if it is effective in bringing about a more widespread appreciation of this fact and more general inclination and desire for closer relations between employers and employes it will be the cause of satisfaction to thousands of employers and workmen all over the country. It is a unique departure from the usual conditions, but it is one which is greatly needed, and there seems good ground for not only the hope, but the belief, that something eminently practical and beneficent will grow out of it.

The industrial unrest which has long been manifest in this country in common with most others where industries are numerous and active, is a constant cause of worry and anxiety to both capital and labor, and anything that can be done to reduce that unrest, or eliminate it entirely, would be a great boon to the industrial world. Many experiments have been tried and many efforts made to accomplish this result, but few have been attended by a degree of success which brought much hope to those directly interested or those who felt only a general concern for the welfare of society. If, however, some progress is made by this new movement there will be a general feeling of satisfaction and a renewed hope that the end so much to be desired, the establishment of peace instead of war between capital and labor, is near at hand, and may soon be realized.

The resolution providing for a six-year single term for the President of the United States, having been reported favorably to the Senate, stands a good chance of being approved by Congress. The resolution provides for an amendment to the National Constitution, and must be ratified by the legislatures of the states before it becomes effective. It provides that "the term of office of President shall be six years and no person who has held the office by election or discharged its powers or duties, or acted as President under the constitution and laws made in pursuance thereof, shall be eligible to again hold the office by election."

Experiments have shown that Sea island cotton can be successfully grown in Cuba, a crop of nearly 5,000 pounds of long staple and extremely valuable cotton having been gathered this year. Attempts were made to grow cotton on the island during the first year of the American intervention, but they were given up because the boll weevil invariably destroyed the crop the second year. The present growers burned the larvae of the insects as soon as they appeared, and have succeeded in raising their crop on a four-acre tract.

The withdrawal of Senator W. Murray Crane opens the way for several aspirants for the republican nomination in Massachusetts. Congressmen Augustus P. Gardner and John W. Weeks are looking for advancement, and ex-Governor John L. Bates is expected to appear as a candidate for Senatorial honors. Mayor John J. Fitzgerald of Boston has already announced his candidacy for the Democratic nomination for Senator.

It is impossible to understand the result of the primaries in Ohio and other states. Just why the Republicans of Ohio should prefer Colonel Roosevelt as a man, and his methods, to President Taft and his methods is quite beyond comprehension.

Providence may well rejoice because of the beginning of the new railway system, which will give the city and the state increased facilities for passenger traffic and freight business.

It will be a close race for the Presidential nomination in the Republican convention.

THE MAGAZINES.

The June American Magazine contains an article by Ray Stannard Baker entitled "Our Next President and Some Others;" it includes a characterization of each of the eight most important candidates. In the same number Senator La Follette, writing his autobiography, gives his frank opinion of Roosevelt. Stewart Edward White presents his personal observations on lions, having recently returned from a year's hunt in Africa, during which he saw 71 lions and killed several. Hugh S. Fullerton contributes a base ball primer. Sir Francis Vane, originator of the World Scout movement, writes of peace education and peace, while Ida M. Tarbell's subject is "The Woman and Democracy." Fiction is contributed by Edna Ferber, Susan Glaspell, Gouverneur Morris, P. C. Macfarlane, H. G. Wells and Inez Haynes Gillmore.

The Strand Magazine for June contains an article by Frederick A. Talbot on "Farming with Dynamite," the latest method for breaking up the ground for agricultural purposes; it is claimed for this new means of making barren lands fertile that it will accomplish in a few hours what by other methods would take many weeks. Another article of interest is "How the Coronation Picture Was Painted," by the artist, J. H. F. Bacon. A. R. A. "The Japanese Bayard," by Arthur Morrison, and "The Finest Flower I Ever Grew," a symposium of specialists in the cultivation of popular flowers, are attractive. Wendell Phillips Dodge contributes a lengthy article dealing with the career of Robert B. Mantell, Shakesperian actor, while the fiction is by well known authors.

WINSTON CHURCHILL THE MAN OF THE HOUR.

David Lloyd George is no longer regarded by any section of the coalition in Parliament as prospective leader of the Liberal party. He enjoyed immense popularity with his followers when he was attacking the dukes for opposing his famous budget of 1909, but he has received few congratulations for his virulent denunciation of the Duke of Devonshire and a scion of the house of Cecil in the Commons recently.

He has been eclipsed by Sir Edward Grey and by Winston Churchill in turn, and the First Lord of the Admiralty is undoubtedly the man of the moment. Mr. Churchill's plain intimation to Germany that Great Britain cannot afford to lag behind in the race for naval supremacy is endorsed by everybody in the country, irrespective of political bias. Since Winston Churchill replaced Reginald McKenna at the Admiralty public confidence in the British navy has been completely restored and the Little Navy party is dwindling into insignificance.

Mr. Churchill has given officials in the London offices of the dominions something to talk about by the announcement that he was looking to the self-governing colonies to provide for their own naval defenses, so that the British fleet might be free to patrol the home waters continuously.

REGULATING MOVING PICTURES.

[New York Tribune.]

The moving picture theatre ordinance reported by the law committee of the board of aldermen appears, to be a serious effort to "safeguard these shows in all respects, physically, mentally and morally," as Mayor Gaynor recently urged the board of aldermen to do. Doubtless it is not perfect, but in general it is unquestionably better adapted to meet the needs of the situation than anything which now exists in the municipal code.

The ordinance proposes to meet moral problems by lodging restrictive and punitive power in the mayor, through his power to revoke or suspend licenses. He is to have a corps of inspectors, who will report to him conditions in the movies. A further important step toward a clearer moral atmosphere in these shows is the prohibition of vaudeville performances in connection with the moving picture exhibitions. Frequently the song-and-dance turn or the monologue has given to the evening's entertainment a tone entirely different from that of the pictures, which in this day are seldom suggestive or otherwise seriously objectionable morally, even though lurid in subject. If this proposed ordinance receives the mayor's signature there will in future be no stage for performers and, aside from the moving pictures themselves, there will be no attraction other than songs, instrumental music, lectures or recitations.

MORRISTOWN WOMEN WIN ELECTION.

Women of Morristown, N. J., availed themselves for the first time of the privilege of voting at a school election. There were 128 women who voted out of a total of 347. The members of the women's town improvement committee were opposed to the building of a new grade school house in King street, contending that the town needed a new high school building. The result was a victory for them.

THE SMALL STATE'S PERIL.

The Direct Election of Senators Would Make a Great Change in Basis of Representation.

[Pittsburgh Gazette-Times.]

The proposed amendment to the federal constitution providing for the election of United States Senators by direct vote of the people, having received a two-thirds vote in both houses of Congress, now goes to the legislatures of the states, and if three fourths of the states in this manner ratify it the amendment becomes a part of the fundamental law. Prediction as to the outcome is worse than futile. At present public sentiment appears to favor the change, but in the South there is opposition because federal authority over the elections is carefully preserved, and Democrats down that way fear negro domination. If the South votes "no" solidly, there will be difficulty in securing the assent of 36 states. Anyway, it has been found easier to pass constitutional amendment resolutions in Congress than to obtain their ratification in legislatures.

The smaller states, whether in territory or population, may as well make up their minds that if this amendment is adopted it will mark the beginning of a movement for a change in the basis of representation in the Senate. Terms of Senators were fixed at six years to secure stability in organization. Senators divided into classes of two years to assure experience in legislation and procedure. Two Senators were apportioned to each state in order that a balance might be maintained between all the states and that each might have the same voice and weight finally in all legislation. In the larger and original sense Senators represent their states and not a constituency, as is the case with members of the House. Thus, Rhode Island, with an area of 1,250 square miles has the same voice in the Senate as Texas with 265,780 square miles; and Nevada, with 81,875 population, the same voice as New York with 9,113,272. But in the House of Representatives, where the people are directly represented, Nevada, in the Sixty-second Congress, will have only one member, while Rhode Island will have three, Texas 18 and New York 43.

Whether it is wise to provide for direct election of Senators, it is entirely probable that, if this shall become the law, agitation will ensue to give a state representation in the Senate proportionate to its population, placing the minimum at two Senators, or possibly one, with an additional Senator for so many hundreds of thousands of inhabitants in excess of the basic number. That would militate against the small state and against sections—and yet it would be just as logical and necessary as the pending proposition. There are many public men, who have not given proper thought to the extraordinary foresight displayed in the existing framework of our government, who favor this sort of modification in the composition of the Senate even now.

THE STRANGER IN THE GATES.

[Christian Herald.]

The flood which set in from southern Europe to America a few years ago reached its highest mark during the month of April, 1912. It is estimated that over 100,000 foreigners passed through Ellis island during the month. April of last year tested the capacity of the department, when 83,675 aliens were passed through the routine of inspection and acceptance; so it is not difficult to imagine what has taken place recently. The conditions this year have been such as to cause Commissioner Williams, who is in charge of the government station which handles the immigrants coming into New York, a great deal of uneasiness. He has had no hesitation recently in stating that the government's facilities for the examination and care of the newcomers is entirely inadequate. There is no doubt that for the most part the immigrants come from the unhealthy parts of southern Europe and carry contagious diseases. Many are weak-minded, a condition which in their hurried examination it is often difficult to detect. This is specially true in the case of young children who are sent to this country in many cases, it is believed, simply because they can receive better care in American institutions.

Commissioner Williams said only a few days ago that it was simply impossible to care for the large numbers coming in during this, the height of the rush season. Mr. Williams said "We are up against it here, but the strictest sort of an investigation will prove that we are doing the best we can in the circumstances. Already we have had complaints about the use of three-tier cots, and that is the only manner in which we are able to care for 15,000 each night." When almost twice that number arrive, as was the case in April, and the authorities are obliged to rush them through, aliens who would naturally and quite reasonably be detained until a complete examination could be made, not only to ascertain their physical condition but also to learn the conditions surrounding their emigration, are permitted to enter New York city.

THE PSYCHOLOGY OF CLOTHES.

[Harrison Fisher, in Dress.]

We are all of us prone to judge by externals, our early training in copy-book maxims notwithstanding. Emeline may have a lovely disposition, but that cannot hide the fact that there are knots in her shoestrings, and though Beatrice sings like an angel her gown fastens most untidily. Emeline's friends might be almost as sweet tempered as she is if her boots were not enough to make them cross. No less would the songs of Beatrice stir more hearts without the distractions of gaping hooks and missing buttons. Externals do count, however broad we may think our views to be.

It is a common observation that a man gets an impression of a thing as a whole. If he notices any detail, it is apt to be a sign that something is wrong. Carelessness, however, in the dress of either men or women, is usually betrayed by details.

Suppose that we ourselves have so far developed our minds and sensibilities that we form our opinions by what is not by what seems, are we not in constant embarrassment explaining our careless friends to others who are less condoning? It is a human failing to wish our friends to appear well, a kind of vanity, if you like, in proving the excellence of our own taste. There is no law requiring us to placard our qualities to open view. How can our fellow mortals get any idea of us at the start of acquaintance except by the eye?

MONOLITH UNEARTHED IN MEXICO CITY.

A huge monolith was unearthed in Mexico City a short time ago, during excavations being carried on for the extension of water mains. The stone is in the form of a plumed serpent, and it is thought may have been one of the corner stones of the ancient Aztec temple of Tenochtitlan. The find has been turned over to the national museum, with accurate measurements as to the place in which it was found. A committee will be chosen to study the stone and the place of its discovery, with a view to fixing the exact location of the ancient temple.

PROGRESS AT THE BEACH.

Management Winning Much Favor by Car-Landing Shelter—Old Pavilion Still In Way.

Whatever else may be done at the beach, the new management is winning great favor with early visitors, who continue to comment on the thoughtfulness of providing a shelter along the car-landing platform. There is no hesitancy on the part of every one who goes there to look round for a first view of the reconstruction, while under this shelter to express an opinion that at last it looks as if the comfort and convenience of the public were to be cared for. The awning is done, except [illegible] roof.

The old city pavilion still blocks the completion of the board walk. The contractor promised to take it away speedily and again promised to have it [illegible] way today, but up to this forenoon in spite of his working gear had arrived.

The local contractors are putting in their bids for the new buildings, and it is being impressed upon them that the time to whom the award is made must complete the big merry-go-round structure by June 15. It will take about a week to set up the machinery, the builders say if they can be given the clear centre of the structure that can be erecting while the building is being completed.

The association has opened an office in the present pavilion and Secretary Rice is there all the time, while Director McGowan, who is on the beach every day, is in the office at frequent intervals giving orders for the equipment of a station and one things which will be supplied to put the place in commission. None of the old restaurant equipment is to be retained, though it was offered; it was not up to the standard demanded by the new management. To equip a big dining room and kitchen requires some thought, but orders have been completed for all but the chairs and silverware. By the time the buildings herein to get in condition to receive the various supplies, and possibly before, the various shippers will begin to come, and it will take a good deal of carting to land all on the beach.

FUTURE OUTLOOK BRIGHT.

Miantonick Club's Equipment Complete, and Roll of Membership Steadily Increasing.

The Miantonick Tennis Club courts are in good condition, and members are arranging to arrange matches on different days. With the addition of new nets and backstops, the place seems to be complete in its equipment, and, judging from the increase in the membership roll, the courts ought to be the scene of a great deal of activity this summer. The club has grown rapidly since its organization, about a year ago, and officers and members are highly elated over the prospects of the club's future.

The executive board held a meeting Monday afternoon and decided to adopt the same rules as were in force last summer. A committee, composed of Miss Nancy Brownell and Mr. Percy H. Draper, was appointed to revise the rules and recommend any changes they might deem wise.

The need of an entertainment was also brought up, it being pointed out that the club is now on a sounder financial basis than ever before, and a committee was appointed, consisting of Misses Mary E. Leonard, Marie Dowling and Elsie M. Hathaway, to arrange for social gatherings among the members from time to time.

The club will send some of its representatives over to St. George's School Saturday afternoon, to play the members of the school's tennis team, in singles and two double matches. The team from Miantonick has not been selected yet.

JAMESTOWN.

[Regular correspondence of The News.]

The lumber for the Wetherill bungalow on Calvert place has arrived from Fall River by lighter.

The entertainment committee of the fire department met Tuesday evening to arrange for a lobster supper.

Mrs. Charles Whitney of Boston is on the island today.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Barker of Newport are at their cottage on Bay View drive for a short visit.

C. E. Weeden has rented for Clarence King, his cottage near the West ferry to W. F. Amsden, U. S. N., for the season of 1912.

LOCAL BRIEFS.

—Mr. Max Agassiz was in town yesterday.

—A large number of servants arrived last night to open cottages.

—Mr. Henry Redmond returned here by steamer General last night.

—A number of automobiles arrived for Mr. Stuart Duncan this morning. The family is locked for the end of this week.

—The men from the Providence Scale Company have finished the work of installing the new 15-ton scales at the City wharf.

—Mr. Grenville Vernon is with his mother, Mrs. J. Peace Vernon, on Cottage street, and will spend the remainder of the summer in Newport.

—Representatives of the E. W. Bliss Company, makers of the Whitehead torpedoes, are here to witness torpedo trials in Coddington cove from torpedo boat Morris.

—The Elmorrs are planning to hold a social next week, at which an innovation in decorations will be a feature. The committee in charge is Frank O'Connell, M. J. McManus and J. F. Sullivan.

—Captain Tom Shea has installed his new Lathrop motor in his launch Defender. The old motor was still in good condition, but it has gone out of action, and as he could get no spare parts to replace worn ones he had to abandon the old motor.

—An erstwhile painter, at work in his home on Dolloff's street this morning, met with disaster. In reaching for the paintpot the contents came down on his head, covering him and marring him, for the time, a fit subject for Puck.

—The steam yacht season of 1912 was inaugurated today, when steam yacht Narada arrived, with Messrs. Henry Walters and Pembroke Jones and a party of friends on board. She looked perfectly natural in her old berth in Brenton cove. Steam yacht Irene, Mr. J. J. Phelps, is also in port.

—Mrs. Woodbury Kane will be married to Captain Douglas Howard Gill of the British Royal Field Artillery next Tuesday at Eastbourne, England. Captain and Mrs. Gill will probably come over to this country on their wedding trip, and will visit the bride's sisters, Mrs. George B. de Forest, in this city, and Mrs. William Appleton in New London.

—A bogus coal dealer, who has operated successfully in Fall River, is reported working New Bedford in the same way. He claims that the man of the house has bought some shipwrecked coal at a bargain and has sent him to get the money from the wife; the scheme works when the woman pays over the money.

—It rained about 11:15 Tuesday night, but one had to be outdoors at the time to catch it, for so little fell that the gauge at the Water Works had nothing to report this morning. There were also some thunder and lightning. Things might have been worse. Boston had hail and a few flakes of snow—and the date was May 21.

—Cruiser Birmingham, which in on the fishery patrol near the scene of the Titanic disaster, in order to warn trans-Atlantic liners, reported by wireless to the Navy Department today that steamer Olympic crossed latitude 38 without sighting ice. The operator at the Torpedo Station, who caught the message, said the Birmingham was considerable distance off the coast.

—A still alarm was rung in just before 4:30 o'clock Tuesday afternoon for a lively blaze at the home of Timothy Sullivan on Sharon court, where the men of Combination 2 found the small shed or stable in the yard well on fire. Some say a brush fire was to blame, others that smoking cigarettes were the cause, but whatever the cause, the result was a badly damaged shed for Mr. Sullivan.

—William Loftus has sold, for Mrs. Emma J. Shea of Westbury, Long Island, her two-tenement house at 32 Fair street, to Sylvestro and Mary Ann Ferraris. The lot is bounded southerly, 64.9 feet, on Fair street; westerly, 43.7 feet, on land now or formerly of James D. Hidler; northerly, 64.9 feet, on land now or formerly of Charles E. Hammett, Jr., and easterly, 49 feet, on land formerly of William J. Holt.

—Yesterday there was carried into the Rogers High School by four able-bodied men what looked to be an immense picture. It proved to be a relief map of the Canal Zone, showing the canal and its surroundings, which had been loaned by Mr. Guy Norman, to give the pupils a chance to see how the country and the canal look. It is certain that others than pupils will take advantage of the map being on exhibition.

—The funeral of John Johnson took place this afternoon from the home of his sister on Pope street and was attended by a number of painters from the repair shops, where deceased had been employed for many years. The services were conducted by Father Tierney of St. Mary's Church, and the interment was in St. Columba Cemetery. The bearers, fellow-workmen were Nat. Lord, Alexander Blues, William Groff and Frank R. Peabody.

SENTENCED TO NINE MONTHS.

Mrs. Pankhurst and Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Guilty of Conspiracy.

LONDON, May 22.—Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst, the militant suffragette leader, and Mr. and Mrs. Pethick Lawrence, joint editors of "Votes for Women," were all found guilty at the Old Bailey sessions today, and each sentenced to nine months' imprisonment, on the charge of conspiracy and inciting their followers to malicious damage to property. The jury in giving its verdict of guilty accompanied it with a recommendation that leniency should be shown to the prisoners, and Justice Coleridge, in delivering judgment, took this into consideration.

The charge of conspiracy was brought as a sequel to the window-smashing demonstration in London on the first of March. Mrs. Pankhurst was arrested for participating in the damage to property and was sentenced March 2 to two months' imprisonment, along with a number of other women. It was while she was serving that term in jail that the charge of conspiracy was brought against her, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence, and Miss Cristabel Pankhurst, the last of whom disappeared.

The two women in the dock were pathetic figures when the verdict of guilty was brought in by the jury. Mrs. Pankhurst clung to the edge of the prisoner's enclosure, trembling visibly, and pleaded to be treated as a first-class misdemeanant.

Mrs. Pethick Lawrence, raising both hands in the attitude of prayer, swayed as she said: "May God defend us as our cause is just."

The prisoners were all sentenced to be confined in the second division, which does not involve hard labor. After consideration of the recommendation of the jury for leniency toward the prisoners, on account of the "undoubtedly pure motives underlying the agitation," Judge Coleridge said: "If the prisoners had shown contrition I should have acted on the jury's recommendation, but as they have openly declared that they mean to continue to break the law, I cannot make them first-class misdemeanants. They are guilty of an offense for which they are liable to two years' penal servitude."

The judge ordered the prisoners to pay the heavy costs of the trial. As the defendants were removed the women crowding the court hissed and cheered.

IN SHOE MACHINERY CASE.

Sharp Colloquy Result of Request for Open Session in the Suit.

BOSTON, May 22.—A sharp colloquy between Judge W. S. Putnam of the United States district court and District Attorney French took place today over the government's request for an open session at the taking of testimony in the government's suit for the dissolution of the United Shoe Machinery Company.

Judge Putnam said the United States prosecuting officials ought to be ashamed to ask for publicity in a case where there had already been too much of the evidence made known, thus preventing the empaneling of a jury. District Attorney French said it was a matter of great public moment and required publicity.

The clash between bench and bar came on the petition of the shoe machinery company for a secret hearing before Examiner Charles K. Darling. The motion was opposed by District Attorney French.

"The United States is not ashamed of any thing," declared Mr. French, "either in the United Shoe Machinery case, the Steel suit or any other of the suits which have been brought against corporations."

"Yes," interrupted Judge Putnam, "to the great public detriment."

Judge Putnam pointed out the motion of the government to expedite the hearing before a full bench of three district court judges had taken the matter out of his hands. He therefore postponed indefinitely further proceedings. The matter will be heard publicly when it comes before the full bench of three district court judges.

ROBERTS CORRECTS STATEMENT.

C. D. Marshall Testifies as to Competitive Conditions in Bridge Trade.

NEW YORK, May 22.—When the hearings in the government suit to dissolve the United States Steel Corporation under the Sherman anti-trust law were resumed today, Percival Roberts, Jr., the director of the corporation, who testified yesterday, asked to correct the statement in his previous testimony that the capacity of the American Bridge Company was 38 per cent of the country's total at the time of its organization in 1900. He said the figure applied to the year 1904 and that he was unable to say at the present time what the capacity in 1900 was.

C. D. Marshall, president of the M'Clintic Marshall Bridge Company of Pittsburgh, an independent concern, was then called to testify as to competitive conditions in the bridge industry. Marshall was formerly connected, he said, with the Shiffler Bridge Company, one of the "Bridge Trust's" 27 constituent concerns. He testified that the largest of these concerns, among them the Penn-yan Iron Works, the Keystone Bridge Works and the Lassig Bridge and Iron Works, were in competition in interstate commerce at the time they were taken over. There was a number of concerns larger than these, however, which were not taken in, he said.

COUNT VON DER OSTEN SACKEN.

Russian Ambassador to Germany Dies at an Advanced Age.

MONTE CARLO, May 22.—Count Nicolai Dmitrijevitsch von der Osten Sacken, Russian ambassador to Germany, and dean of the diplomatic corps in Berlin, died here today in his eighty second year.

Count von der Osten Sacken entered diplomatic life in 1853. Shortly afterwards he proceeded to Sebastopol, where he remained throughout the Crimean war, after which he was created a count in his own right, for valor displayed during the siege of Sebastopol. Later he served at various European legations. In 1895 he was appointed Russian ambassador to the German empire, and despite a severe paralytic stroke in 1899 retained that post until his death. He was greatly esteemed by his colleagues in the diplomatic corps.

OWEN'S PUBLIC HEALTH BILL.

Protests Against It Coming From All Parts of the Country.

Not Likely to Pass—New Pension Law Will Probably Reduce Number of Private Measures.

[Washington correspondence of The News.]

WASHINGTON, May 21.—Anything that seems to interfere with religious freedom or restrict the right of people to doctor themselves in their own way is sure to meet with fierce opposition. Even in the midst of the most heated of Presidential campaigns people have time to give attention to the Owen bill for enlarging the public health service. The Oklahoma Senator first started out with a plan for a department of health with a cabinet officer, but has modified it until it now enlarges the public health and marine hospital service. But even the latter measure is vigorously opposed. From all parts of the country protests are pouring in, and it is a good guess that Congress will refuse to pass a measure that seems so full of dynamite.

Minority Leader Mann was commending the manner in which an appropriation bill had been prepared by the committee on appropriations. Congressman Johnson of South Carolina, who was in charge of the bill, said that the credit belonged to the clerk of the committee, James C. Courts.

"There have been occasions," remarked Mann, "when the clerk of the committee has more than earned his salary."

"I will say," responded Johnson "that he is the most valuable man in the service of the government."

The House applauded both statements. Courts came to Washington from Tennessee more than a quarter of a century ago and has been clerk of the committee whether Republicans or Democrats are in control. He is one of the men regarded as indispensable about the House.

Time was when "Sunny Jim" Sherman was somewhat weary of the Senate proceedings, but he has passed that stage now. But he was disgusted not long ago when the Washington base ball team dropped four straight games to another club. "Bush leaguers!" he said. "They are worse than that. I could organize a team among the Senate page boys and go out and lick 'em. I hope they will brace up and give us some base ball."

Senator McCumber, chairman of the committee on pensions, says that he expects the Sherwood pension bill, which has been approved, will have the effect of reducing the number of private pension bills passed at each session of Congress, as many cases now covered in the private bills will be cared for under the general law. McCumber does not believe it will decrease the number of pension bills introduced. "There seems to be a habit on the part of some Senators to introduce pension bills," he remarked. He might have said nearly all Senators.

Congressman Austin was the storm centre of a dispute arising over the amount which the government should pay to the relatives of men who lost their lives in the service or for damages or injuries received while employed on government works. The Tennessee man claimed that $5,000 should be paid for the loss of life instead of $420, as the bill under consideration proposed. During the debate Congressman Fowler of Illinois said to Austin: "You are too good a lawyer to talk that way."

"I am more of a statesman than a lawyer," confessed Austin.

Speaking on pensions, General Sherwood of Ohio said there were only two men living who went into the Union army at 11 years old. One lives in Indiana and the other in Colorado. Congressman Hamilton of West Virginia corrected him to say that there was living at Grantsville, W. Va., a man who enlisted before he was 11 years old and was the actual youngest soldier who served in the Civil war.

As a real, substantial subject of never ending talk in Congress the tariff is without a rival. There was a time when the free coinage of silver had it "on" the tariff, but that was long ago. And, besides, the tariff was only temporarily set aside. It "came back," proving my assertion.

But both houses of Congress have to have diversion. There must be a little something sandwiched in between tariff speeches to relieve conditions. In the Senate the constitution is always a fruitful subject for one of those "unexpected debates" which consume time and relieve regular tariff talkers. In the House the "point of order" answers the same purpose. And both are equally effective as to "getting anywhere." No Senator is convinced he is wrong in a constitutional argument, and no member of the House ever thinks he is wrong in regard to a point of order.

Torpedo Boat Destroyer Jenkins Exceeds Speed Contract in Covering Government Mile.

Torpedo boat destroyer Jenkins, on the first of her builder's acceptance trials Tuesday, off Rockland, Me., covered the government measured mile course at the rate of 33.119 knots an hour. The contract calls for a speed of 30 knots. Of the 23 runs which were made over the course five were at top speed and the average rate for these was 33.022 knots. The sister ship of the Jenkins, the Jouett, made her fastest mile at the rate of 33.18 knots a few weeks ago.

The speed runs of the Jenkins Tuesday established the fact that 805 revolutions would give the contract speed. On this basis the destroyer then put to sea for a four-hour endurance trial. For 15 minutes she maintained a speed of 32.65 knots, while her average for the four hours was 31.26. The best hour was at the rate of 32.57.

The Jenkins left Rockland early today for two tests which will complete her builders' acceptance trials. They were two runs of four hours each at 25 and 16-knot speed, the purpose of which was to obtain data relative to fuel and water consumption. The destroyer left at 6 a.m. and was expected to complete the day's runs and arrive at Bath about 5 o'clock this afternoon.

DID NOT WAIT TO RESIGN.

Manner of Ousting Boutell from Windsor Sugar Plant Explained.

NEW YORK, May 22.—The manner of ousting Benjamin Boutell of Ay City, Mich., from the presidency of the Windsor Sugar Company was written today in to the records of the government's dissolution suit against the so-called Sugar Trust. Mr. Boutell's term was unexpired when Henry O. Havemeyer obtained control of the concern and, apparently, Mr. Boutell did not wait to resign.

"It would be better for you to have him remain as president until the matter of promotion is attacked and settled," Mr. Havemeyer wrote February 24 1903, to Chester S. Morrey of Denver, the sugar magnate's personal representative in the Colorado beet sugar field.

"The directors can denude him of his authority and place it in your hands as general manager (I leave this to Waterman) and then the lawyers can attack him in his presidential position and make it easier."

The Waterman referred to, Mr. Morey explained on the stand, was Charles W. Waterman, Mr. Havemeyer's lawyer. Mr. Waterman is counsel for the Great Western Sugar Company in the present proceedings.

In reply to questions by Assistant District Attorney Knapp, witness said Boutell resigned in a few weeks.

Mr. Morey's conduct was not at all times satisfactory to his chief, according to a letter written October 28, 1904, by Mr. Havemeyer to the witness.

"Mr. Heike brings me a letter of October 26 in which, for some unknown reason, you write him about my personal affairs," the letter reads. "Hereafter kindly address to me all communication in reference to sugar. I have set Mr. Heike right on this matter, but do not care to have him conversant with my affairs."

In the same letter he wrote: "The parties I represent, that is the trust, take their pro rata and pay for the same."

This is the first time in the proceedings that a letter written by Mr. Havemeyer, in which he refers to his interests as the trust, has been made public.

SWEEPING VICTORY FOR ROOSEVELT.

elected as a Roosevelt delegate and D. W. Allaman as a Taft delegate. In the Fifteenth district D. L. Mellick was named as a Roosevelt delegate and Frank Bansbottom as a Taft delegate.

No one thing in the returns is more significant than the fact that the Republican voters of the state have cared little for the contest which has been attracting the attention of the entire country. In no county has there been 50 per cent of the Republican vote cast, and in some counties it has been much less.

In Medina county, in Northern Ohio, where the Roosevelt strength was expected, there were 869 votes cast, of which Mr. Roosevelt received 664, President Taft 85 and Senator La Follette 137. In 1908 President Taft received 4,327 votes, which shows that four-fifths of the Republicans of that county did not take enough interest in the contest to go to the polls.

In the Congressional contests returns show that at least four of the five Ohio Republicans in Congress have been re-nominated and that out of 18 districts heard from early today 14 Democratic members of the national House are candidates for re-election. There are three Republican nominees who have "come back." These are Albert Douglas, of the Eleventh district, who defeated General Charles Grosvenor several years ago, and who later failed to hold his seat; James Joyce, of the Fifteenth district, who was defeated two years ago, and D. A. Hollingsworth of the Sixteenth, former attorney general of Ohio, who was defeated two years ago.

Nicholas Longworth and 19 present Republican Congressmen were re-nominated.

TAFT STILL IN THE FIGHT.

President Makes No Comment on Result of Ohio Primaries.

WASHINGTON, May 22.—President Taft, returning from his campaign tour in Ohio, reached Washington at 8:50 a. m. today. He plunged into a busy day at the White House offices and has planned to leave Thursday for New Jersey to travel through the state campaigning for delegates to Chicago, who will be elected at the primaries next Tuesday.

The President had no statement to make this morning concerning the result of the Ohio primaries. He has made known to his friends that he is still in the fight and believes that he will have enough delegates to secure the nomination at Chicago.

One of the first things Mr. Taft did when he reached the White House was to arrange for an extension of his trip to New Jersey so that he will be campaigning in that state until an hour before the polls open at 1 o'clock next Tuesday. On the original schedule the President would have finished in Atlantic City Monday night. The extension of the trip was said today by Mr. Taft's supporters to be an indication that he has determined to fight Colonel Roosevelt to the bitter end. Although no official approval was given to the report, it was persistently rumored that the President would make every effort now to prevent Mr. Roosevelt receiving the nomination at Chicago.

Mr. Taft's first definite information about Ohio was received on his private car at Baltimore, just before he reached Washington. Members of his party say he slept well and the headlines in the morning newspapers did not prevent him enjoying a hearty breakfast. Reaching Washington, he strolled down the platform and through the concourse at the Union Station to the White House automobile with a smile on his face.

Plans for the trip to New Jersey, although not complete, show that the President will visit every one of the 12 Congressional districts and practically every county in the state. He will leave Washington early tomorrow morning, will make an address at the International Navigation Congress in Philadelphia and formally open the New Jersey campaign at Camden, just across the Delaware, tomorrow night. The trip will end at Glassboro, not far from Atlantic City, Tuesday noon. For one whole day, according to the President's plans he will motor to small New Jersey towns within easy automobile distance from New York. He probably will spend one night in Trenton, three nights in New York with his brother, Henry W. Taft, and one in Atlantic City. No new speeches for the New Jersey invasion were ready today, but it is believed Mr. Taft will continue his attacks upon Colonel Roosevelt.

The President remained in his study in the White House for several hours today. Attorney General Wickersham, Secretary of War Stimson, Secretary of Commerce and Labor Nagel, and Secretary of the Navy Meyer had appointments with him. Senator Crane of Massachusetts was an early caller, but had no comment to make on political developments.

OHIO RESULT SETTLES CONTEST.

Roosevelt Greatly Pleased With Impulsive Judgment of the State.

OYSTER BAY, N. Y., May 22.—"The result in Ohio has settled the contest," said Colonel Roosevelt today. The colonel was greatly elated at the reports from Ohio. After going through several hundred telegrams which came in this morning from all parts of the country he dictated this statement:

"Naturally, I am very much pleased with the 'impulsive judgment' of Ohio. Seriously, I can only repeat what I have already said. I infinitely prefer the deliberate judgment of the people to their impulsive judgment, and in Ohio we got their deliberate judgment, and as I have also said, if I had to make a choice I would choose the impulsive judgment of the people rather than the deliberate judgment of the bosses.

"The result in Ohio has settled the contest. I believe that we could have won without Ohio. Our opponents needed the substantially solid vote of Ohio in order to give them even a chance to make a contest at the Chicago convention. Victory in Ohio means that it will be hopeless to beat us at Chicago by unseating our delegates, who represent the popular will in Washington, Indiana, Kentucky, and elsewhere, nor will it be possible for them to win by seating delegations from southern states, who represent nothing whatever but fraud.

"I am profoundly appreciative of what the people of Ohio have done. It represents a victory not only for the plain people of the Republican party, but for every good citizen in the United States, for in this contest we have stood for the fundamental rights of good citizenship, and every honest and decent citizen, no matter what his politics, is profoundly concerned in our victory, for we are fighting his battles."

Colonel Roosevelt said that he had been told by Walter Brown, manager of his Ohio campaign, that the "blind ballot" in that state represented at least a 25 per cent handicap for the Roosevelt supporters.

After he had heard the returns Colonel Roosevelt left Sagamore Hill for a long horseback ride. He said he expected no visitors today.

STUDENTS RESCUED UNHARMED.

Fire, Caused by Lightning, Destroys Michigan School for the Deaf.

FLINT, Mich., May 22.—Fire, supposedly caused by lightning, early this morning practically destroyed the main building of the Michigan School for the Deaf in this city. All the 225 or more students in the institution were rescued, unharmed. The children were all asleep in the dormitory, in the three-story building, when the fire started on the roof. There was no panic.

It is estimated that it will cost the state close to $600,000 to replace the building.

DEMOCRATS PREPARE FOR PRIMARIES.

The Democratic city committee held a meeting last night to make preparations for the primaries to be held May 21. Later there were hurry and bustle, because at the last moment it was decided "up the river" to have a rally in Newport tonight. It will be in the educational campaign, to teach the voters how the primaries are to be worked, so that conditions in Massachusetts New York and elsewhere will not be repeated in Rhode Island. The meeting will be in the nature of a cart-tail, or automobile stump-speaking tour, and Representative John B. Sullivan will preside and Congressman O'Shaunessy and Judge Fitzsimmons will do the talking.

10—A 2½ point gain in Canadian Pacific and a decline of as much in United States Rubber indicated the irregular tendency of the stock market at the opening. Most of the active issues were fractionally lower, with light dealings.

11—Prices rose sharply soon after the opening, with complete recovery in Rubber and material gains in the Coalers, Smelting and minor specialties. From this they promptly receded to the opening level and in some instances went lower.

Noon—Political considerations were the governing factors in the early operations on the Stock Exchange today. An irregular opening gave way to a brisk rise in various standard shares and minor specialties. These gains for the most part were soon effaced on offerings of stock, some of which were doubtless in the nature of short selling. Prices yielded more under increased pressure and y mid-day the average level was decidedly under yesterday's close. In point of fact, trading was almost wholly professional, with an excuse of bearish sentiment. Bonds were easy. Money on call steady at 2¾ per cent; prime mercantile paper 4 to 4½ per cent. Exchanges $339,028,935; balances $14,815,047.

Bay State Street Railway Officials Take a Trip Over All the Tracks on the Island.

President Sullivan and Manager Goff of the Bay State Street Railway Company and the trustees of the Massachusetts Electric Company, another branch of the financial organization of the railway, arrived here on the 11 o'clock train this morning. They were met at the train by Superintendent Gosling of the local power plant with carriages, and taken to the power station. Thence they drove down Thames street to Morton Park, where a special car and Superintendent Bisbee were waiting for them. In this they were taken to the beach, thence back to Franklin street, where they had a view of the waiting room property and a glance down Franklin street to the express depot on Commercial wharf.

The car went out Broadway to the Vernon avenue car barn, after which came a ride over the Island, with stops at Power street, where the cars were left and a visit made to the Portsmouth power station. Returning to the car, they viewed the Portsmouth car barn, now used for storage purposes, and next the outfit at Island Park. Arriving at Stone Bridge, they changed cars, as every one must do, but continued their journey in parlor car Lawrence, which formerly belonged here. The party is engaged in inspecting the entire plant of the company and is logging up a good many miles, since the road operates all the way between here and Nashua, N. H.

In driving down the lower part of Thames street and the Harrison avenue district, where an extension of track is asked for by the citizens, who desire modern conveniences for that locality without having to walk as far to reach the cars as they do to reach the city proper. The inspection of this district, as well as the various details of the installed plant, was, of course, in a most superficial way, for the time was limited.

TO MEET NEXT IN BLACKSTONE.

Contests in Election of Foresters' Officers, Who Will Be Installed in Providence.

The sessions of the annual convention of the Grand Court of Rhode Island, Foresters of America, in Father Mathew Hall were concluded late Thursday afternoon.

Resolutions were adopted on the deaths of Past Grand Chief Ranger James H. Caufield of Ashton, who died October 14, 1911; John E. Lancaster of Providence, who died May 12, and Delegate James J. Harding of Providence, representing Court Philip Allen, who died May 6.

It was voted that the per capita tax should remain at 20 cents, the same as last year.

An invitation was accepted from Court Flower of the Blackstone to hold the next Grand Court convention in Ashton.

Many spirited contests took place during the election of Grand Court officers. Frank H. Bellin was re-elected as grand secretary over his opponent, Past Grand Chief Ranger James P. McNellis, and the following officers were chosen for the ensuing term:

Grand Chief Ranger—Ralph De Gasparre of Court Roma, No. 46, Pawtucket.

Grand Sub-Chief Ranger—Edward F. Hennegan of Court Washington, No. 17, East Providence.

Grand Treasurer—John F. Harlow of Court General, No. 22, Providence.

Grand Secretary—Frank H. Bellin of Court Providence, No. 29.

Grand Recording Secretary—George F. McCoy of Court Lyman, No. 24, Providence.

Grand Senior Woodward—Frederick S. Franco of Court Friendship, No. 31, Newport.

Grand Junior Woodward—John T. Lambert of Court Flower of the Blackstone, No. 4, Ashton.

Grand Senior Beadle—John McPike of Court Warren, No. 33, Warren.

Grand Junior Beadle—George H. Fortin of Court City of Pawtucket, No. 13.

Grand Trustees—Patrick McCarthy of Court Columbus, No. 41, Wakefield; George H. McCabe of Court Central, No. 35, Central Falls; Giovanni Ricciteli of Court Florence, No. 44, Providence.

Grand Auditors—William F. Cleary of Court Lyman, No. 24, Providence; Harry A. L. Deacon of Court Bellevue, No. 10, Providence and Ernest Stein of Court Hermann, No. 38, Providence.

It was announced that the installation of the Grand Court officers would be postponed until Monday evening, May 27, in order that the delegates might catch the train for Providence. The installation ceremonies will take place in Providence.

A pleasing feature of the convention was the presentation of a beautiful bouquet of carnations to Grand Chief Ranger Cannon, the gift of Newport Foresters.

WORK ON THE HIGHWAYS.

The highway department began work with dustoline Tuesday, and Ridge road and part of Harrison avenue received a slight coating to hold the surface, which is now in good condition. Some dustoline was left over from last year. A tank car of dustoline is on the way, and when it arrives there will be "something doing" if the weather is still dry. This is the time, when the streets are in condition, to put the dustoline on and keep the surface.

Another car of asphalt is coming for lower Bellevue avenue, and preparations are being made to start the work as soon as possible. The road must be dry, and it is still rather wet for work. In the meantime the roller on the Avenue is looking after some spots where automobiles have dug the road, and some re-surfacing will be done below Perry street.

The Ocean avenue gang has put in a gutter in front of the Perry place, coming down the hill towards Collins beach, to save the road in heavy rains. The gutter is similar to the one put in by Professor Agassiz, taking the rain and drainage from the other slope. This has been overhauled and put in good shape.

TO MEET IN NEWPORT IN 1913.

Episcopal Convention Lays on Table Elimination of "Protestant" from Prayer-Book.

The one hundred and twenty-second annual session of the diocesan convention of the Protestant Episcopal churches of Rhode Island began yesterday morning in St. Paul's Church, Pawtucket. Following the roll call the convention organized with Bishop Perry in the chair, Rev. Herbert C. Dana secretary pro tem, Rev. Joseph M. Hobbs registrar and Joseph T. A. Eddy treasurer.

The first business was the election of a secretary to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Rev. Samuel H. Webb, who held the position for 30 years. The nominees were Rev. Herbert C. Dana of East Portvidence, Rev. William C. Pressey of Ashton and Rev. Alvah E. Carpenter of Manton. Two ballots were taken, without a choice.

The report of the standing committee of the diocese was presented by Rev. George McClellan Fiske, D. D., of Providence.

Committees were appointed, Rev. George Vernon Dickey of St. George's Church, Newport, being named for the committee on place for the next convention.

The application of St. Alban's parish at Centredale for admission to the convention was reported on favorably by a special committee and the delegates from that parish were seated in the convention.

At noon the doors of the church were thrown open to all who were desirous of hearing the bishop's annual address.

"The convention year has been chiefly notable for teh earnest and effective ministry of the clergy in parishes and missions," said the bishop. "I wish to record with sincere gratitude and respect the impression made upon me by their devotion and self-sacrifice. Material improvements, while not the most important, are yet apparent indications of progress."

During his address Bishop Perry deplored insufficient salaries for clergymen in certain parishes. "Certain parishes", he said, "which are receiving the utmost measure of effective and zealous service, are not only neglecting to make proportionate returns, but are withholding from their ministers the means to provide food and clothing and education for their children."

In the afternoon Rev. William C. Pressy of St. John's Chapel, Ashton, was elected secretary of the convention.

The report of Rev. Lester Bradner, Jr., D. D., of the committee on the federation of churches, was the stimulus for considerable discussion. Consideration of the matter eventually resulted in the adoption of the following resolution, proposed by Professor William McDonald of Brown University.

"That the committee on Christian unity be authorized to confer with any organization having for its object the attainment of Christian unity or cooperation; provided, that such conference shall not commit this convention to endorsement of the principles or acts of such organization."

The sessions of the convention are being continued today.

At the closing session of the convention, this afternoon, Newport was chosen as the meeting place of the convention in 1913.

The question of eliminating from the Prayer-Book the word "Protestant," a subject of considerable interest, and which was expected to be decided at this convention was laid on the table until the next convention.

The principal business of the convention was the election of officers, the present incumbents and members of all the important offices being re-elected.

REGRET UNIVERSAL.

Neither Supreme Nor Superior Court Will Sit the Day of Judge Lee's Funeral.

Universal regret is expressed by members of the supreme and superior courts, public officials and members of the legal fraternity because of the death of Judge Christopher M. Lee, and as a special mark of respect neither courts will sit tomorrow, the day of the funeral.

Yesterday in the superior court in Providence Judge Baker made a brief address to the jury which had been listening since April 29 to the trial in Judge Lee's room, and the men on the panel were discharged from further consideration of the case of Henry W. King against the Providence Gas Company. Judge Baker spoke of the sudden and unexpected death of Judge Lee and of the loss the state had sustained in his passing.

The members of the panel drew up and signed resolutions of sorrow on Judge Lee's death and of praise for his integrity. The members decided to send flowers to the funeral.

HUSTLING ON LONG WHARF.

Fish Trucked Direct From Steamer to New York Boat—Mackerel Season Really Started.

Things were hustling on Long wharf last night until after the arrival of the New York boat. The Eugene F. Price of the Atlantic Trapping Company was still discharging when the boat arrived, and had to haul to one side to finish, and fish was trucked direct from the Price to the New York boat; 551 barrels went to New York and 136 to Philadelphia.

Today it looks like a similar shipment. The Atlantic Trapping Company will have 120 barrels, against 150 last night; the Newport Fisheries will have 90, against 98 last night; the Sakonnet River Oyster Company had 100; Macomber & Nickerson, with one boat, had 75; the Fish-Mott Company, Captain John Brownell, had 49; the Rover, 15; the Tiger, about 45 against 63 last night; F. W. Lawton had 52 barrels, of which 24 were squid.

Yesterday John Suza, at the Second beach, had 24 barrels of squid and two of butterfish, showing that the squid are still here in places. The Tiger had 140 mackerel. C. B. Anderson also had some mackerel caught in the mouth of his new trap off Sakonnet point. Today the H. E. Hamlin, Captain Brownell, had a dozen mackerel.

The mackerel season has really started, and Fred Harty, who had nothing to do yesterday, found his occupation. The Pearl, the first netter to report, came in with 260 mackerel caught last night and the night before. She was followed by the Sylvestre, with 220.

STILL ANOTHER PHASE.

Red Men Gather in Large Numbers at Anniversary Banquet.

Distinguished Guests, Interesting Speeches, Attractive Decorations Souvenir Folder.

The celebration of the twenty-fifth anniversary of the Weenat Shassit Tribe, No. 6, Improved Order of Red Men, which began Sunday evening with the attendance of the members at Emmanuel Church, where Rev. Dr. Porter preached a special sermon, and continued Monday evening with the initiation of a class of 61 candidates as members in the tribe, was continued in still another phase Tuesday evening, when the members of the organization gathered in large numbers in Masonic Hall for the anniversary banquet, entertaining officials of the Great Council of the United States and prominent members of the Great Council of Rhode Island. There is still another night of the celebration—the Ladies' night, which will be this evening.

The hall was attractively decorated for the threefold celebration. American flags are artistically draped about the walls, and palms and other potted plants have been used with pleasing effect on the platform and about the sides of the rooms. Tall bay trees in the corners of the hall and along the sides are illuminated by miniature electric lights in vari-colored glasses and on the platform, among the other plants, are more bay trees, similarly illuminated. The flag of the Red Men has a prominent position at one end of the hall. For the banquet five long tables were arranged, running the length of the hall, with the guest table slightly raised at the south end. These tables were decorated with small palms and other foliage plants.

McClosky's orchestra was half hidden behind the bower of palms on the platform, and when the doors were opened played a lively march as the 275 members of the order marched to their places at the tables. Then came the invited guests, and when all were in their places, Past Grand Sachem John J. Peckham, the senior past sachem of Weenat Shassit Tribe, and one of its original members, gave a brief address of welcome, concluding with asking Rev. Emery H. Porter, D. D., to ask the Divine blessing. Then came the dinner, which was served by Muenchinger, with a large and efficient corps of waiters, the menu being as follows:

Little Neck Clams
Cocktail Sauce
Long Branch Oysternettes
Cream of Chicken Soup, Croutons
Olives Celery Pickles
Lobster Salad Mayonnaise
Small Rolls
Lamb Croquettes Peas
Roast Turkey, Giblet Sauce
Cranberries Dressing Mashed Potatoes
String Beans
Chicken Salad
Frozen Pudding Assorted Cakes
Coffee Toasted Cheese Crackers
Rolls Fruit

During the dinner the orchestra played a number of popular selections, in many of the better known songs the diners joining in singing the choruses. "Everybody's Doing It Now" was the most popular, and was repeated again and again, the singers gaining voice and spirit at each repetition, until it seemed that everyone was singing, and the conclusion of each verse was greeted with loud calls for more. "O, You Beautiful Doll" was another popular song, and "I've a Girl in Havana" also had a few friends in the audience.

When the menu had been concluded and cigars lighted Past Grand Sachem Peckham again called for order, and gave a brief history of the Weenat Shassit Tribe. This was instituted May 19, 1887, by Great Sachem J. Peter Gardner of Massachusetts, with 67 members, of whom 11 still retain membership. The membership is now 575, of whom three are past grand sachems and 40 are past sachems. At present the tribe has invested in the bank $10,000, and Weenat Shassit Association, composed of members of the tribe, owns a valuable property on Thames street. Past Grand Sachem Peckham read a letter from Great Incohonee George P. Briggs, head of the Great Council of the United States, expressing his regrets that he was unable to attend the anniversary, and congratulating the tribe on its success.

Great Senior Sagamore Carl Foster, from the reservation of Connecticut, spoke at length of the principles of the order, Freedom, Friendship and Charity, urging the members to live up to these principles, with the assurance that they must thereby become better citizens. He impressed on his hearers the necessity of not confounding license with freedom, and appealed to a strong manhood, urging the members of the order to stand for the right and for humanity. He spoke at length on the care which the order gives to the orphans of members, and of the proposed change in the rules, which will give each jurisdiction authority over the orphan funds in the respective states.

Rev. Emery H. Porter, D. D., the only pale face among the speakers, was next called upon and made a humorous speech, referring to the use of Indian terms by the former speaker and adding a few of his own with such aptitude that one of the hearers shouted: "You're coming!" He spoke encouraging words to the members of the order, urging them to follow its principles in their every-day life, that they might be serviceable in the uplift of humanity. There is no place in which there is greater need of work of this sort than in Newport, and the Red Men can do a noble work in carrying out the principles which they have learned in their lodge room.

Great Sachem Edwin M. Burke of the Great Council of Rhode Island spoke at length of the close relations, historically and otherwise, between Newport and Westerly, the place from which he comes, and of the hearty support he had received from Weenat Shassit Tribe in his official duties as head of the order in the state. The tribe is the largest in the state and one of the largest, if not the largest, in New England, and is recognized throughout the entire jurisdiction of the United States for its activity and good works.

Deputy Grand Sachem J. Edward Gorman of Providence, deputy for Weenat Shassit Tribe, spoke along similar lines, and was followed briefly by Great Senior Sagamore James Munroe of Pawtucket and Past Grand Sachem Carpenter.

After the speaking the audience joined in singing "The Star-Spangled Banner," three cheers were given for the Great Council of the United States and for Past Grand Sachem Peckham, and the banquet was brought to a close.

The committee in charge of the banquet consisted of Past Grand Sachem Frank G. Scott and Past Sachems Benjamin Lawton, William J. Carr, William A. Burbidge and Frank S. Hale.

At each plate was a souvenir of the anniversary, containing the program for the four days' celebration, with lists of committees, the menu, program for the Ladies' Night, a brief history of the tribe, a list of invited guests and past and present officers of the tribe, and a page "In memory of our departed brothers." These were enclosed in a folder, with a front page showing Indian scenes.

This evening's program includes an opening address by Sachem Alfred W. Brice, orchestra selections, vocal selections by the Harvard Male Quartet and an exhibition of magic by Chevalier, to be followed by dancing and progressive whist.

BROWN FUND NOW $834,422.

Centredale Worsted Mills Subscribe $2,500—An Alumnus to Repeat Early Offering.

The Brown University ... fund now amounts ... latest subscriptions ... and including one ... from the Centredale Worsted Mills, ... other subscriptions ranging from $5 to $500.

President Faunce has received the following letter from a Brown alumnus: "I have read in the newspapers with quickened pride in the kind of alumni our college has, that Mr. John D. Rockefeller, Jr., has doubled his first contribution to the million dollar fund. My hat is off to him! Mindful, however, that there is a flattery which is sincerer than praise, I beg also to say that, while I cannot compete with him in amount of giving, I will not let him outdo me in loyalty to Brown. If you will kindly send me a pledge-form I will repeat my earlier offering to the fund, to be credited as before, if you please, 'In memory of Stephen Elmer Mann of the Class of 1884.'"

SHIPYARD ACTIVITIES.

The pleasant weather seems to have started things in the yachting and boating line, and there are signs of activity at the shipyard. The Flying Cloud and Rahnee have been bent; the Victor, Josie and Beatrice have been launched for the season; yawl Pawnee is being overhauled; and Captain Gall A. Hand has arrived to put Mr. Sparrow's fleet in commission for the season. At Williams & Manchester's the Coyote, Dr. Meyer is ready to leave for her summer headquarters up the bay, and Commodore Caswell's flagship Wooglin of the Newport Yacht Club is ready to take to the water this week—perhaps today. Auxiliary sloop Helen is fitting out.

A PLEASING OPERETTA.

"Golden Hair and The Three Bears" Successfully Presented at St. John's Guild House.

There was a large audience to see the juvenile operetta, "Golden Hair and the Three Bears," given by the Junior Auxiliary for the benefit of the choir fund, at St. John's Guild House Tuesday evening. The cast was assisted by Mr. Otto James, pianist; Mr. Harry W. Scoville, baritone; Miss Ruth Wilkie, reader, and Mrs. Julius Burdick, accompanist.

The acts and scenes of the opera are as follows: Act I—Scene 1, In the Forest; Scene 2, Coronation of Golden Hair. Act II—In the Forest Dale. Act III—Scene 1, Bruin's Cottage, Big Bruin, Mammy Muff and Tiny Cub at Home; scene 2, same as Act II, Golden Hair visits Bruin's House. Act IV—Scene 1, same as Act I; scene 2, Coronation of Bard.

The scenery, made by Mr. C. Leslie Clarke, was most attractive; the costumes and acting were excellent, and the staging was good. As always in St. John's the most careful attention was paid to details, and much credit for the success of the operetta is due Misses Wilbur, Mrs. Durfee and Burdick.

As Golden Hair Miss Marian Leary was charming in costume, singing and recitation; Miss Beulah Friend was an acceptable Queen; Miss Alice Pearson was good as the Bard and later as the Queen, taking the place of Miss Friend, the deposed Queen; Faithful, Frailty and Fairy Queen were in the capable hands of Misses Nellie and Lila Mumford and Edith Groff, and Masters Willie K. Durfee, Sheldon Kirby and Clarence Durfee furnished the comedy element as Big Bruin, Mammy Muff and Tiny Cub; their make-up and actions were very clever.

The choruses consisted of Queen's Attendants, Fairies and Forest Children, as follows: Nellie Mumford, Josie Minder, Grace Viall, Lillian Durfee, Stella [illegible], Gertrude Ramlose, Alice Tripp, [illegible] Langley, Lucinda Bloomfield, [illegible] Sargent, Myrtle Gifford, Mae [illegible], Edith Groff, Dorothy [illegible], [illegible] Bacheller, Irene [illegible], [illegible] Powers, Nita Weaver, [illegible], Ruth Gifford, Janet [illegible], Ada Harbron, Anna [illegible], Sarah Groff, Sadie [illegible], [illegible] Gifford, Rose Ladyman, [illegible] Louisa Verriest, Lillian Devlin, Marion Bailey, Emma [illegible], Mildred Goddard, Esther [illegible], Edith Goddard, Emily Gonzales, Josie Devlin, Jennie Easton, Harold Champlin, Wilfred Champlin, Raymond Parker.

During the evening Mr. Harry Scoville sang three times, Mr. Otto James gave piano solos, and Miss Ruth Wilkie read an abstract of the operetta and recited "The Little Tree," "Seein' Things at Night," "The Raggedy Man" and another selection.

At the close of the operetta prizes were awarded, for perfect attendance at the meetings of the Auxiliary, to Stella Durfee, Erma Sargent, Rose Ladyman and Sadie James. Lillian Durfee, Eunice Johnson, Susan Gifford and Louisa Verriest were absent but once, and also received prizes.

Cake, candy, lemonade and fancy articles made by the members of the Auxiliary were on sale, and dancing was enjoyed.
